GOSSIP OF THE RACETRACK

SALVIDERE SHOWS SIGNS OF RE-

But Jack McGionis Squares Accounts With Madden by Besting Him With Frank Gill, Bred to Eugland -Mandamus Served on the Racing Commission.

After the running of the Coney Island Sookey Club Stakes restorday turimen In general were inclined to the belief that the real hero of the race was Salvidere, the son of Belvidere-Sallie of Navarre, who was the champion two-year-old last season. During the Belmont Park meeting Salvidere, it was learned, had been suffering from an Elness which caused him to lose a great deal of flesh and which threw him out of training. At that time it was thought that Salvidere ould not be able to stand training again, but within the last two weeks he began to over his health and Trainer Madden was on working him in early morning trials. He did so well last week that, in view of the heavy going, it was decided at the last mo-ment to start him in the big race yesterday. although Thomas Hitchoock, Jr., told his friends that Salvidere needed about 100 pounds re flesh on his bones to be absolutely fit and ready for a hard, gruelling race.

Undoubtedly weak physically, therefore, Salvidere went to the post more as an experiment than anything else. He opened at to 1, but as the smart bettors did not think that he had a chance he soared in the prices to 15. But when it came to racing Salvidere showed beyond a doubt that he had all of his old speed and gameness and was merely short of work. With a few more races under his belt therefore it is the opinion of shrewd turfmen that Salvidere will recover his twoyear-old form, which will make him take his place at the kesd of the three-year-old di-rision. John W. Gates thought so well of vision. John W. Gates thought so well of Salvidere that he had a fat wager on him straight and he got a good run for his money,

The defeat of Peter Pan was not only a shock to Mr. Keene but also to the public It was explained afterward that the weight and the track had something to do with his downfall. But no fault could be found with as he could, and did not have the speed to stand off the challenges of those who finished in front of him. Frank Gill did not surprise owner, Lucky Jack McGinnis, who said before the race that the Collar colt would win if a recently weak knee did not go back on him. McGinnis had $500 on the colt to vin at 12 to 1 and also got $20,000 as his share of the stakes. Electioneer was as much of a failure in this event as he was in the Suburban. He had some early speed but ouit cold, which created the impression that

Frank Gill's time, 2:33 1-5, was two seconds slower than Stalwart's track record. But his performance, considering the heavy going and the ease with which he won, was a high class one. Frank Gill is an English bred colt. His sire, Collar, is a half brother to the famous race mare Sceptre. His dam; Ravello II., was purchased in foal on the other side by S. C. Lyne for $350 and was brought to Lexington, where Frank Gill was dropped at the breeding farm of the late S. S. Brown. Shortly after that incident an English breeder offered Capt. Brown $7,500 for the mare and her foal, but it was declined. When the Brown stable was sold at auction last spring Jack McGinnis began bidding on Salvidere; but Madden hurrled to his side and told him that Salvidere would not stand training because of weak ankles. Then McGinnis stopped bidding and Salyidere was knocked down to Charley White for $3,500, the latter as it turned out, acting for Madden. McGinnis purchased Frank Gill at this sale on the same day for $4,000, but when he learned that Madden had tricked him he vowed vengeance. When Frank Gill, therefore, beat Salvidere yesterday McGinnis was jubilant. "I've squared accounts with Madden," said be, "and I'm going to tell him so!" Then he hirried off to find the master of Hamburg Place.

"Colin is the best two-year-old that has been to the races in this country in the last fifteen years," said Mr. Keene after his Commando colt won the Great Trial.

How about Sysonby?" asked a friend who stood near at hand.

We'll bar Sysenby," replied Mr. Keene "for he was the greatest ever!" Colin was not made the meidum for a heavy plunge because of the fact that the public nd the plungers knew that he had been suffering from bucked shins and a bad hock. But if his real condition had been realized he met practically all of the best two-year-olds callon. He won so easily that Mr. Keene's satisfaction could not be concealed. The colt's share of the stake was $20,000, which brings Mr. Keene's winnings inp to about $175,000 on the season. Before the race Madden felt confident that Meelick would win. In six previous Great Trials Madden owned outright or had an interest in the winners. Hamburg, David Garrick, Blue Girl and Flyback all won in the Madden colors, while the veteran turfman owend a part of Irish Lad and Pulsus. Meelick was backed down to 6 to 1 and ran the best race he has shown so far. Lady Winifred and Senator Barrett, both bred by Madden and sold recently to Frederick Johnson and Boots Dur-nell, respectively, also started in this race but were soundly beaten. Mr. Whitney started two beautifully bred fillies in Adriana by Hamburg-Kildeer and Stamina by Nas-turtium-Endurance by Right and they were well supported. Stamina ran a good race and should improve.

During the races a representative of James of the Empire City track of Youkers, served H. K. Knapp, a member of the State Racing Commission, with a peremptory writ of manthe commission to grant a license to the Yonkers track without further delay. Mr. Soley's representative said afterward that a meeting August was desired and that the Empire track would agree to live up to the rules and regulations of the Jockey Club. If the license at the windup of the horse show. She drove is granted, which seems probable, the track, under the law, will be entitled to forty days If the Jockey Club does not grant will go ahead with a meeting at which any owners, trainers and lockeys in good standing will be free to operate. A meeting at Yonkers at Saratoga, and for that reason there are rumors of trouble.

Jack Martin is in the limelight again. His ride on Herodotus, a hot favorite, on Friday was severely censured, and it was made to look much worse when Notter brought the colt home an easy winner in the fifth race yesterday. Martin has lost much of his old skill. He has been repeatedly beaten on heavily backed horses until his friends have begun to lose confidence in him. It will not be surprising in future if Beckman rides all of the Farrell-Johnson horses, as the latter is a coming lightweight of marked ability.

John W. Gates lost a bunch of money on the day's proceedings. He dropped a bundle on Hot Shot in the steeplechase, also a good wager on Belligerent. Then he backed Ed Ball in the Sporting Stakes and played Meelick in the Great Trial. He went to Salvi-dere in the big event of the day and lost a $10,000 wager on Golf, Ball in the fifth. But he got back some of his money by placing $5,000 on Lancastrian at 11 to 5 in the last event.

The books won a world of money on the cay. The public backed Hot Shot in the open-from 8 to 5 to 11 to 5, while Smiling Tom went back from 5 to 2 to 7 to 2, as Velours and Bright FRANK GILL'S $25,000 STAKES Boy were both backed down. All kinds of money was lost on Angier in the last race, but Lancastrian was solidly backed at the last moment.

TAYLOR'S FINE RUNNING

Pennsylvania Man Wins Quarter Mile From

Scratch at N. Y. A. C. Games. The annual spring games of the New York and for the first time in a great many years the weather man acted unfavorably to the Winged Foot and all day long there was either a hard rain or a nasty drizzle. About 3 o'clock the weather brightened a little, but it was only for a spell, and soon after there was a heavy shower which turned the track and infield into a mass of slush. Everything had been made ready for a big crowd. Nineteen thousand invitations had been issued and the new house was partly in commission, yet only crowd of about 5,000 put in an appearance.

One of the most important events of the day was the mile relay, in which three of the best teams in America took part. They were the University of Pennsylvania, the New York A. C. and the Irish A. A. C. J. B. Taylor, the olored flyer of Pennsylvania, was intrusted with the job of running the last relay, and as he had an advantage of about a dozen yards over his nearest opponent he had a simple task and cantered home an easy winner.

Matthew J. MoGrath made his initial bow to the crowd with a winged foot on his chest, and he took some rare flings out of the 16 pound hammer. Though the turf was soggy and entirely against anything like record per-formances, Master Mograth sent the leaden sphere the grand distance of 170 feet 3% inches. Outside of Flanagan's record throws this is the best so far. McGrath is new at the sport, so it might be reasonably expected that ere the season wanes he will take a fall out of the world's record. In fact, one of McGrath's trials yesterday may have been very close on record figures, but it struck a post of one of the hurdles of the obstacle race and the hammer was brought prematurely to the ground.

Undoubtedly one of the greatest demonstrations ever given to an athlete on the Travers Island ground was awarded to Taylor when he won the 440 yards from scratch. Only a little while before he had taken part in therelay, and nobody thought be could have the grit to repeat so soon. But he quietly took his mark, and no sooner did the gun crack than it was easily seen he meant to be on the firing line at the finish. He ran his best for firing line at the finish. He ran his best for 100 yards or so, and collared his field in bunches. Then he eased up for a while, but when he had about 120 yards to go he strede out again, and running on the extreme outside came along with a wet sail and jugt won by a yard. It was the hair raising episode of the dark afternoon. Women who were around dripping forgot their oilskins and umbrellas and broke in over the track, while their escorts oheered themselves hoarse.

Quite a lot of star athletes were there, but they got lost in the scoring owing to the heavy handicaps. Shepherd and Parsons did not figure in the half mile, and Martin Sheridan was unheard of in the discus. Claude Allen did a performance in the pole vault, his vault being 11 feet 8 inches. F. Collins ran a good race in the three miles, which he won off the 55 yard mark in 16 minutes 11 seconds.

The books won a world of money on the Gay. The public backed Hot Shot in the opening event, but some of this money, was paid out on Delcanta and Belligerent, who were both played across the boards. In the second race the ring lost practically nothing, as big money was dropped by the players on Ed Ball and the Carman entry. The public won thousands on Colin, but Cohort, the Whitney entry: Firestone, Meelick, Chapultepee and Lady Winifred were all taken across the boards. Barring a lot of small bets on Frank Gill, the result of the big race was a gold mine for the ring, as it was estimated that $150,000 was wagered on Peter Pan. Montgomery was taken three ways, while Salvidere was played chiefly to show. Electioneer was heavily backed across the boards. Herodotus, the winner of the fifth, opened the second, 2 but went up to 3. Golf Ball receded

BEATS MONTGOMERY SALVIDERE. PETER PAN AND OTHERS.

Winner Neglected at 12 to 1-James R. Keene's Colin Runs Off With the Great Trial-Shot Gun Takes Sporting Stakes -Five Favorites Lose at Sheepshead.

Over a heavy track, with the rain falling steadily, James R. Keene's Peter Pan went down to a crushing defeat in the $25,000 Coney Island Jockey Club Stakes, for three-year olds, one mile and a half, at Sheepshead Bay yesterday while 30,000 persons looked on in sadness. J. L. McGinnis's Frank Gill, who beat Peter Pan in the Withers Stakes at Belmont Park, was an easy winner. He was coupled with Dan Buhre at 12 to 1 and breezed home with four lengths to spare in 2:33 1-5. Emil Herz's Montgomery, backed down to 5, squeezed through on the rail and got the place by a nose from T. Hitchcock, Jr.'s. Salvidere, 15 to 1, an added starter, who ran a great race considering the fact that he was hardly fit for such a gruelling struggle. Salvidere was a head in front of Mr. Keene's Philander, a coupled favorite with Peter Pan at 6 to 5, the public losing thousands of dollars on the pair. Peter Pan was only a head back and was fifteen lengths in front of Hickory, with the others, including Electioneer, well backed at 4. strung out behind in straggling formation.

The race, which has taken the piace of the American Derby in point of interest, drew American Derby in point of interest, drew the best three-year-olds in training to the post. The start was made well up the Futurity chute, and when Cassidy sent the field away Miller took Peter Pan to the front. The Commando colt packed 129 pounds, concoding three to Montgomery and Frank Gill and thirteen to all of the others. It was but natural for him to make the pace, and as he rushed down past the judges' stand for the first time he was under a hard pull. At that point he was leading by two lengths, with Salvidere. Electioneer, Montgomery and Frank Gill following close together.

As Peter Pan turned into the backstretch he was going easily, with Miller sitting still was leading by two lengths, with Salvidere, Electioneer. Montgomery and Frank Gill following close together.

As Peter Pan turned into the backstretch he was going easily, with Millier sitting still and looking back confidently. But as the race progressed Mr. Keene's colt seemed unable to hold his easy advantage when Salvidere and Frank Gill moved up to him after Electioneer had quit at the end of three-quarters of a mile Still, it was believed that Miller would let the Commando colt down when the crisis arrived, so few in the great crowd had feelings of any prehension.

But on the far turn, when Salvidere had made his run and had quickly wrested the lead from Peter Pan, it was readily seen that the Keene colt was through. As he passed the mile mark Salvidere was leading by half a length, with Peter Pan the same distance in front of Frank Gill. The laster, who had received patient handling from Knapp, was cut loose and with a world of speed he passed both Peter Pan and Salvidere as if they were standing still. As he turned into the homestretch Frank Gill increased his advantage and had the race won as he galloped to the last furlong pole, where Knapp began to ease him up. At the same time Montgomery, under the whip, came with a determined rush and Joined Salvidere, Peter Pan and Philander, all of whom were under severe punishment. The crowd roared encouragement to the jockeys and the most intense excitement prevailed. Nobody was sure of the second and third horses until the numbers went up and then everybody joined in a cheer for the winner, who trotted back to the scales as fresh as a daisy.

While the defeat of Peter Pan was a bitter disappointment for Mr. Keene, the popular turfman had a chance to enthuse when his great Commando coit Colin ran off with the $25,000 Great Trial Stakes, a six furlong dash for two-year-olds which drew out a notable field. There were fourteen starters, as R. T. Wilson, Jr.'s, Falcada was added. Colin and Masque were coupled favorites, but they went back in the odds from 2 to 13 t thing, backed from 8 to 6. Aftal, 7 to 2 second choice, was pulled up. The time was 4:09 2-5.

Although he was badly beaten on Friday when backed off the boards and with Jack Martin in the saddle, Herodotus, ridden this time by Notter and neglected at 5 to 1, made a runaway of the fifth event, a highweight handicap at a mile. He galloped home a length and a half in front of T. Hitchcock Jr.'s Golf Ball, 11 to 5 favorite, who had no trouble in taking the place from August Belmont's Smiling Tom, 7 to 2. The others were nowhere. The mile was run in 1:42 1-5.

Matthew Corbett's Angler, a hot favorite at 8 to 5, after looking all over a winner at the bead of the stretch in the last race, at a mile and three-sixteenths on the turf, weakened when C. R. Elison's Lancastrian, 11 to 5, challenged, and the latter won easily by two lengths in 2:04 2-5. Angler was three lengths in front of Flimnap, 12 to 1. Five favorites were beaten and the ring was a big winner on the day. The summaries:

NEOLA BEATS THE EFFORT.

Close Race in New Rochelle Regatta -Fifty three Yachts Start.

The Effort and Neola met in the regatta of the New Rochelle Yacht Club yesterday on the Sound. F. M. Smith, the owner of the Effort, sailed his boat, and she was beaten by the Neola by 3 minutes 6 seconds. The Effort had the weather berth at the start, but the Neola soon drew clear and was first to turn the weather mark off Woolsey's Reef. It was a reach across the Sound to Oak Neck Point and a run home.

Fifty-three yachts, representing almost every type affoat of the single stick variety, competed in the regatta. The easterly breeze that was light at the start and increased in strength as the race progressed was ac-companied almost from start to finish by a drizzling rain, but this did not deter the young women who sailed as ballast in two of the dories. Clad in oilskins, they "laid out" o windward and helped to hold their respective crafts on an even keel.

Of the seven thirties that started the Nepsi, handled by her owner, Johnston de Forest, did the best work. She won from the Alera by 4 minutes 46 seconds. The raceabout Pretty Quick, steered by A. Bryan Alley, defeated the Tomboy by 1 minute 2 seconds on the 10% mile course, and G. P. Granbery's Tanya of the handicap class had a close tussie with the Marguerite, winning by 19 seconds. The latter yacht at the windward mark forced the Thelema, of the same class, to foul the bouy and break her bowsprit to foul the bouy and break her bowspit short off.

Commodore F. H. Waldorf's little sloop Virginia, sailed by himself, won in the New Rochelle one design class, beating the Mischief by 8 minutes 35 seconds, and B. B. Fry's dory Faraway won from his brother's Tautog after a plucky fight over the 7 mile course by 10 seconds. The summary:

There was a great muster of golfers at the Wykagyl Country Club yesterday for the thirty-six hole handicap, open to all members of the Metropolitan Golf Association. Rain did not mar the fun, for fifty-seven players finished in the competition. It was the first tournament at the club except for the home players since the opening of the course, two years ago, and one reason for the large entry was the desire among outsiders to see the fine clubhouse and links. They found the house a gem in appointments and the 5.3:0 yard course one of the best inland links in the East. The showers made the greens slow and the T. V. Birmingham record at Wykagyl of 79 withstood the attacks of the visitors.

The scores:

A member whose identity is not disclosed has presented to the Baltusrol Golf Club a beautiful and costly trophy to be known as the Baltusrol cup. It is to be played for under these conditions: "Twice each year, at such times as the tournament committee shall fix, beginning with a qualifying handicap, medal play, round of eighteemholes, the best sixteen to continue at handicap match play." Each winner will have his name engraved on the cup and the person winning three times owns it. It will be played for first in September.

The championship of the New York Golf Club has reached the third round, the sur-vivors being Marshall, H. Gahren, A. B. Lawyer, L. R. Taylor, W. F. Stevenson, G. Cammon, P. F. Gilmartin and J. H. Bell.

Owing to the late selection of a links circulars have not been sent out as early as usual for the Boston Interscholastic Golf Association championship, but the committee hope that there will be some New York entries. The tournament will be at the Wollaston Golf Club, July 3, 5 and 6. Entries may be sent to the secretary, Dana Wingate, 8 Stratford road, Winchester, Mass

TO TRY FOR KAISER'S CUP. londer Class Boats Shipped to Germany -Rules for Contest.

BOSTON, June 29.—The three Sonder class yachts forming the American team to race for the Kaiser's cup in Germany and also in Spain left here to-day on board a freighter bound to Hamburg. At the latter port they will be transhipped to Kiel, where they should arrive about July 15.

Spokane, owned by F. Lewis Clark of Spokane Club: built in 1906 from designs by Clinton H. Crane of New York. Chewink VIII., owned by F. G. Macomber, Jr.

Corinthian Yacht Club; built in 1907 from designs by Small Bros., Boston.

Marblehead, owned by William H. Joyce and Sumner H. Foster, Boston Yacht Club; built in 1907 from designs by B. B. Crowninshield.

Summer H. Foster, Boston Yacht Chub; built in 1907 from designs by B. B. Crowninshield.

Spokane is the heavy weather representative, Chewink is a fast all around performer, and Marblehead is best for light weather. The crews, all amateurs, three men to a boat will go to Germany by a fast liner, and will be at Kiel to take them in hand on their arrival. They will thus have about a month in which to try them out on the Kiel courses before the international match, which begins on August 15.

This will be none too long, as the two new bosts on the team were scarcely tried in actual racing here before the trials off Marblehead, resulting in their selection. Their owners expect to get much more speed out of them than they the showed. Spokane, on the other hand, being in her second season, has found herself and is in every way fit.

Study of the German courses, tides and weather will form a very serious part of the preparatory work of the American crews at Kiel. The conditions differ materially from those in which the boats have hitherto sailed off Marblehead.

The special committee of the Imperial Yacht Club at Kiel will do everything in its power to furnish the Americans with reliable information about the conditions on the courses and to help them gain useful experience.

The committee has already sent the Eastinformation about the conditions on the courses and to help them gain useful experience.

The committee has already sent the Eastern Yacht Club's special committee a pamphlet containing a chart of the courses, and describing the methods employed in starting and running sonder class races at Kiel.

The chart shows that there will be no windward and leeward courses, as here. This is due in part to difficulty in getting sea room in which to lay out such a course.

The starting line is across an estuary, or arm of the sea, in Kiel harbor which has a width from shore to shore of about a mile and a width of practicable channel of about half a mile.

The boats are started on a straight line to a mark boat anchored in midchannel northeast three-fourths of a mile. On turning that they begin sailing a triangle. The course is sailed twice around, the full distance being 14.5 nautical miles. The direction in which the boats are sent around depends on the direction of the wind.

On two sides the course parallels the 10 metre depth line of the channel. An onshore breeze in this depth of water results in a strong chop, which in high winds is very trying. According to reports from the Government observatory at Kiel the wind averages above 20 knots an hour there throughout August.

The German method of starting their races ernment observatory at Kiel the wind averages above 20 knots an hour there throughout August.

The German method of starting their races is somewhat different from the American. The starting line is determined by ranges on the shore and a starting steamer is enchored on this line at one side of the channel and a flagboat at the other. On the steamer's mast are three large blackboards, or fields, and two white boards, past which a red starting ball slides.

A preparatory gun is fired at 12 o'clock and the red ball is hoisted to the lowest black field. At one minute intervals it is hoisted one field higher. At the expiration of five minutes it is at the masthead. A gun is then fired and the ball drops to the first field. This is the signal for the start.

The rules provide that when the result of the race has been determined the committee may recall the other boats and declare the race finished.

Rules similar to those employed in the usual Kiel regattas for the Sonder class are now being drawn by the Imperial Yacht Club for the match and will be issued after the American committee has seen and approved them.

The American committee consists of Henry Howard, chairman: Charles Francis Agamy and Louis M. Clark.
